NOTES IN SEASON.

D. APPLETON & Co. have in press "A Friend of the Queen," by Paul Gaulot; and "True Riches," by François Coppée.

D. D. MERRILL Co. explain that "Out of the Sunset Sea," by Judge Albion W. Tourgee, announced for publication in May, will be delayed about a month. The cause is a fire which destroyed about thirty of the drawings Miss Aimee Tourgee is making for the illustrations of her father's book, which must all be drawn again.

THE CASSELL PUBLISHING Co. announce "Utterly Mistaken," a modern story by Annie Thomas; "Prince and Herman, Regent," by Jules Lemaitre, translated by Belle M. Sherman, a story written to prove that an absolute monarchy is not necessarily improved by becoming a republic.

DODD, MEAD & Co. have now ready the Phoenix Edition of E. P. Roe's "Barriers Burned Away," uniform in size and style with the popular editions of "Reveries of a Bachelor;" "Uncle Tom's Cabin," etc., one more purely American book with which to tempt foreign visitors, and in its neat shape sure of a place on a shelf of American favorites.

FUNK & WAGNALLS Co. have ready the sixth issue in John R. Musick's Columbian Historical Novels, entitled "A Century Too Soon," describing Bacon's Rebellion, and giving vivid pictures of the manners and customs one hundred years before the outbreak of the American Revolution. The book is fully illustrated, and has a well-made index.

MACMILLAN & Co. have in press the second series of "Shadows of the Stage," William Winter's readable papers on acting and playwrights. In this instalment he has written of the elder Booth, of Miss Rehan's acting of Rosalind and other parts; of Lawrence Barrett, Richard Mansfield, Sarah Bernhardt, Ristori, Modjeska and others. Paul Cushing's novel, entitled "The Great Chin Episode," is ready in Macmillan's Dollar Novels.

CHARLES SCRIBNER'S SONS publish to-day Henry Finck's long-promised work on "Wagner and His Works," a full review of Wagner's life and a summary and critical analysis of the musical and poetic contents of his writings; "Art Out of Doors," hints on good taste in gardening, by Mrs. Schuyler Van Rensselaer; "Homes in City and Country," by Russell Sturgis and others, with one hundred illustrations; and a new story of Boyesen's, called "Social Strugglers," an account of a Western family transplanted to New York to attain social distinction.

HOUGHTON, MIFFLIN & Co. will publish on the 29th the "Life and Work of John Ruskin," by W. G. Collingwood, who was for many years Mr. Ruskin's secretary, and has had special facilities for making his work authentic and interesting. This will be issued in two forms, the ordinary library form containing some portraits and other illustrations, and the large-paper edition, which is limited to 250 copies, containing several additional papers and other illustrations. At the same time will appear a new story, chiefly of college life, entitled "Donald Marcy," by Elizabeth Stuart Phelps; and two stories by Mrs. Wiggins, "A Cathedral Courtship" and "Penelope's English Experiences," which have delighted a wide circle of readers in the Atlantic Monthly; several illustrations will accompany this little book. Bret Harte has collected another volume containing "Sally Dows," a Georgia story, and three other stories which relate to California life, all of which are told in Mr. Harte's characteristic style. Gen. William Farrar Smith, who served with great distinction during the early part of the war, but suffered from a cloud during the latter part, publishes a book which he entitles "From Chattanooga to Petersburg—a contribution to the history of the war and a personal vindication." This is likely to attract the attention of military men, whether or not they are interested in the particular questions in regard to which Gen. Smith vindicates himself.

WEEKLY RECORD OF NEW PUBLICATIONS.*

The abbreviations are usually self-explanatory. c. after the date indicates that the book is copyrighted; if the copyright date differs from the imprint date, the year of copyright is added. Books of foreign origin of which the edition (annotated, illustrated, etc.) is entered as copyright, are marked c. ed.; translations, c. tr.; n. p. in place of price, indicates that the publisher makes no prices, either net or retail, and quotes prices to the trade only upon application.

A colon after initial designates the most usual given name, as: A: Augustus; B: Benjamin; C: Charles; D: David; E: Edward; F: Frederic; G: George; H: Henry; I: Isaac; J: John; L: Louis; N: Nicholas; P: Peter; R: Richard; S: Samuel; T: Thomas; W: William.

Sizes are designated as follows: F. (folio: over 30 centimeters high); Q. 4to; under 30 cm.; O. (8vo; 25 cm.); D. (12mo; 20 cm.); S. (16mo; 17½ cm.); T. (24mo; 15 cm.); Tt. (32mo; 12½ cm.); Fe. (48mo; 10 cm.). Sq., obl., nar., designate square, oblong, narrow books of these heights.

Adams, W. I. Lincoln. Amateur photography: a practical guide for the beginner. N. Y., The Baker & Taylor Co., 1893. c. 3-90 p. D. cl., $1; pap., 50 c.

By the editor of The Photographic Times. Contents: Apparatus; In the field; In the dark room; Printing and toning; Portraiture; Instantaneous photography; Flash-light photography; Orthochromatic or color-sensitive photography; Composite photography; The "fathers of photography;" Appendix.—Tables, formulæ, etc.

Adeney, Walter F. Ezra, Nehemiah and Esther. N. Y., A. C. Armstrong & Son, 1893. 6+404 p. O. (Expositor's Bible, new [6th] ser.) cl., $1.50.

American state reports; cont the cases of general value and authority subsequent to those contained in the "Am. decisions" and the "Am. reports," decided in the courts of last resort of the several states; rel., rep. and annot. by A. C. Freeman. V. 29. San Francisco, Bancroft-Whitney Co., 1893. c. '93. 6-1023 p. O. shp., $4.

Appleton, Rob., (pseud.) Mr. Philip St. Clare: a novel of fashionable life. N. Y., G. W. Dillingham, 1893. c. 4-292 p. D. pap., 50 c.

The scene is Boston; Philip St. Clare, a representative man of his class, and an influential member of the Brahmin Clubs, marries Margaret Lawrence, a society girl, and is seemingly happy until a chance meeting and circumstances conspire to make him return to a questionable allegiance of his bachelor days. In a final episode of this matrimonial venture it is shown that the present conditions and conventionalities of society tend to make marriage in individual cases a failure. By the author of "Mrs. Harry St. John."

Appleton, W: Hyde, ed. Greek poets in English verse, by various translators; ed. with introd. and notes. Bost., Houghton, Mifflin & Co., 1893. c. 46+360 p. D. cl., $1.50.

The editor has aimed to do for Greek poetry, through the medium of translations, what has been so often done for English poetry—that is, to give to the reader, within the compass of a single volume, some idea of its wealth, and at the same time to stimulate and guide him to further and more thorough reading. He has collected one hundred and seventy-five of the choicest specimens. These represent the Iliad and Odyssey, the Homeric hymns, Hesiod, Pindar, Æschylus, Sophocles, Euripides, Aristophanes, Theocritus, Moschus, Anacreon, Bion, Sappho and several others. They are from the best translators, including Chapman, Pope, Leigh Hunt, Cowper, Shelley, Mrs. Browning, Edwin Arnold, Symonds, Bulwer, Stedman and others. An excellent essay by Professor Appleton is prefaced to the attractive collection.

Atkinson, E: Treatise upon the science of nutrition. [New issue.] Bost., Damrell & Upham, 1893. c. '92. 179+6 p. sq. O. cl., 75 c.; leatherette, 50 c.

See notice, "Weekly Record" P. W., July 23, 1892, [1069.]

Barker, E: Harrison. Wanderings by southern waters. N. Y., Appleton, 1893. 8°, cl., $4.50.

Barrie, J. M. A Tillyloss scandal, [and other stories.] N. Y., Lovell, Coryell & Co.,

[1893.] 2-270 p. D. (Belmore ser., no. 17.) pap., 50 c.

Tillyloss was a part of Thrums. "Tammag Haggart," the hero of the first story, which gives name to the book, ran away from his wife in a fit of anger; a thief who robs him of his coat when he is sleeping is found dead with it on him, and buried as "Tammag Haggart." The amusing part is when the hero determines to come back to Tillyloss, and has to prove to his wife and friends that he is not a corpse. The other stories are "Life in a country manse," already published as "An auld licht manse," "How Gavin Birse put it to Mag Lowrie," and about a dozen short sketches in the same vein.

Bibliotheca Americana, 1893: catalogue of a valuable collection of books and pamphlets relating to America; with a descriptive list of Robert Clarke & Co.'s historical publications. Cin., O., Rob. Clarke & Co., 1893. 4+72 p., O. cl., net, $1; pap., 50 c.

A priced catalogue, classified under subjects of books relating to America.

Black, H: Campbell. A treatise on the law of tax titles; their creation, incidents, evidence and legal criteria. 2d ed., rev. and enl. St. Paul, Minn., West Pub. Co., 1893. c. 69+716 p. O. shp., $6.30.

Black, W: Shandon bells. New [uniform] rev. ed. N. Y., Harper, 1893. 5+428 p. D. cl., 80 c.

Bridge, Horatio. Personal recollections of Nathaniel Hawthorne. N. Y., Harper, 1893. c. 9+200 p. pors. il. D. cl., $1.25.

Chiefly based upon three papers originally written by the author for Harper's Magazine; some new material has been added (including several letters from Hawthorne and General Pierce) now first published. Commodore Bridge, who was a college classmate of Hawthorne, limits his narrative chiefly to matters connected with his college days, and to some incidents in his later career which, he thinks, have not yet been fully recounted by others.

Brown, C. W. Examiner and review. Chic., A. Flanagan, 1893. c. '92. 383 p. 16°, cl., $1.

Brown, Horatio F. Venice: an historical sketch of the republic. N. Y., G. P. Putnam's Sons, 1893. 18+434 p. maps, plan, O. cl., $4.50.

"In this volume I proposed to write a biography of Venice, and if it had seemed advisable I should have prefixed that title to my book. Believing that a state is an organic whole, and that such an organism can be more easily studied in a city than in a territorial state, it appeared to me that the Venetian republic presented one of the most striking examples of the inception, birth, adolescence, decline and death of a community which history has to offer for our observation. . . . With this conception in view I have attempted to note the generation and gestation of the race; to display the operation of extrinsic circumstances, such as geographical and natural position, in the formation of its character, to trace the procedure of these intrinsic qualities, such as commercial spirit, scepticism, seamanship, which led the nation to pursue its peculiar line of development. . . ." Contains a list (15 p.) of books on the history of Venice.

Brown, T. E. Old John, and other poems. N. Y., Macmillan & Co., 1893. 12+248 p. 12°, cl., $1.75.

* In this list, the titles generally are verbatim transcriptions (according to the rule of the American Library Association) from books received. Books not received are indicated by a prefixed asterisk, and this office cannot be held responsible for the correctness of their record.

Bulwer-Lytton, Sir E. G. E. L., [Lord Lytton.] Novels and romances. In 40 v. V. 12, Godolphin; v. 13 and 14, Paul Clifford; each with etched frontispiece by E. H. Garrett. Bost., Little, Brown & Co., 1893. 12+425; 14+310; 4-317 p. 12°, cl., per v., $1.50; large-pap. ed., 8°, cl., per v., $3.

Cabrini, —. Rev. Saturday dedicated to Mary; from the Italian; with preface and introd. by Father Clarke. N. Y., Benziger Bros., 1893. 12°, cl., net, $1.75.

Caird, E. The social philosophy and religion of Comte. 2d ed. N. Y., Macmillan & Co., 1893. 9+210 p. 12°, cl., $1.60.

Cauvain, H. A village priest; from the French, by Albert D. Vandam. N. Y., F. Warne & Co., 1893. 4+205 p. D. (Library of continental authors.) pap., 35 c.

A translation of the original French story on which H. Beerbohm Tree's play of the same name is founded. The vicar of Bonnières is an interesting figure in a social drama in which Count de Tremallien's honor is involved and Jean de Torquenié is the supposed criminal. When the story opens a lapse of twenty years has occurred and the son of a former actor in the dual crime is the means of revealing an intricate plot.

Cawein, Madison. Red leaves and roses, [poems.] N. Y., G. P. Putnam's Sons, 1893. 205 p. 16°, cl., $1.25.

Chancellor, Mary. Memory gems. Chic., A. Flanagan, 1893. c. '92. 48 p. 16°, pap., 12 c.

Chaucer, Geoffrey. The house of fame; ed. by Rev. Walter Skeat. N. Y., Macmillan & Co., 1893. 136 p. 12°, (Clarendon Press ser.) cl., $1.10.

Clark, G. H., D.D. Oliver Cromwell; with illustrations from old paintings and prints. Bost., D. Lothrop Co., 1893. c. 14+258+5 p. pors. D. cl., $1.25.

It is only recently—though Macaulay and Carlyle led the van—that historians have had the wisdom to tell the truth of this English hero. Dr. Clark's study, largely based on Carlyle's collection of Cromwell's letters and speeches, is a careful summary of the life and times of the Lord Protector; the book is not a eulogy, but a statement of fact, and aims to rescue from the false environment that prose and poetry have alike thrown about the great Protector, "the life-story of a hero, the character of a man."

Clarke, H. Butler. Spanish literature: an elementary handbook; with indices, etc. N. Y., Macmillan & Co., 1893. 10+288 p. 12°, cl., $1.60.

Clay, Mrs. J. M. Some little of the angel still left: a novel. Cin., O., Rob. Clarke & Co., 1893. c. 2-242 p. D. cl., $1.

Captain Neville while staying in Paris just before the Crimean War seldom betrayed that he had "some little of the angel still left." A beautiful widowed marquise became his good influence. Race-horses, racing, stablemen and training stables are described in minute detail. Scenes from the Battle of Balaklava are introduced.

Colorado. Supreme ct. Reports at the Sept. term, 1891; Jan., Apr. and Sept. terms, 1892: T. M. Robinson, rep. V. 17. N. Y. and Alb., Banks & Bros., 1893. c. 35+659 p. O. shp., $5.

Cornwallis, Kinahan. The conquest of Mexico and Peru; prefaced by the "Discovery of the Pacific:" an historical poem. N. Y., Office of The Daily Investigator, 53 Broadway, 1893. c. 5+443+24 p. D. cl., $1.

"While each of the stories in verse of the discovery of the Pacific and the conquest of Mexico and Peru is separate, and complete in itself as far as it goes, it is really a continuation of the history of America during the period of discovery and exploration, from the time embraced in my previous poem—'The song of America and Columbus; or, the story of the new world'—to the discovery of the Mississippi, to say nothing of the bird's-eye view of the United States of America."—Author's Preface.

Crawford, F. Marion. To leeward. [New cheaper ed.] N. Y., Macmillan & Co., 1893. c. '83-'92. 4+404 p. D. (Macmillan's dollar novel ser.) cl., $1.

See notice, "Weekly Record," P. W., December 22, 1893, [622.]

Crockett, S. R. The Stickit minister and some common men. N. Y., Macmillan & Co., 1893. 283 p. 12°, cl., $1.75.

Dandridge, N. P., M.D. Hospitals, their work and their obligations: the valedictory address delivered at the commencement exercises of the Miami Medical College. Cincinnati, March 30, 1893. Cin., O., Rob. Clarke & Co., 1893. 3-23 p. O. pap., 25 c.

De Normandie, Ja. Andrew Preston Peabody: a memorial sermon: preached in King's Chapel, Boston, Sunday, March 26, 1893. Bost., Damrell & Upham, 1893. 22 p. S. pap., 25 c.

Devol, G. H. Forty years a gambler on the Mississippi. N. Y., G. W. Dillingham, 1893. c. '87. 2-300 p. por. D. pap., 50 c.

Dickens, C. A Christmas carol; with a biographical sketch, a chronological table of Dickens' principal works; a brief statement of the purpose or aim of some of his novels, and a list of passages in his writings, especially adapted for reading aloud. Bost., Houghton, Mifflin & Co., 1893. 12°, (Riverside lit. ser., no. 57.) pap., net, 15 c.

Divinity (The) of Jesus Christ: an exposition of the origin and reasonableness of the belief of the Christian church, by the authors of "Progressive orthodoxy." Bost., Houghton, Mifflin & Co., 1893. 7+233 p. D. cl., $1.

The editors of the Andover Review were the authors of "Progressive orthodoxy." They now reprint some important papers on the divinity of Christ, which have appeared in their review. Following an introductory essay are articles on The primitive church. The self-consciousness of Jesus, Revelation and redemption, The divine-human personality, The early church and The satisfaction of humanity in Jesus Christ.

Douglas, Rev. G. W. Sermons preached in St. John's Church, Washington, D. C. N. Y., A. D. F. Randolph & Co., [1893.] c. 7+294 p. D. cl., $1.50.

Twenty-one sermons preached chiefly on holy days of the Episcopal church; they have been gathered together in book form at the expressed wish of Dr. Douglas' parishioners.

Doyle, A. Conan. The firm of Girdlestone: a romance of the unromantic. N. Y., Lovell, Coryell & Co., [1893.] 354 p. D. (Belmore ser., no. 18.) pap., 50 c.

"The firm of Girdlestone" dealt in ivory, gums, ebony, gold-dust and other African products. Its two members, father and son, were cold-hearted, hard-headed scoundrels, who over-insured their ships and indulged in other fraudulent practices. The elder Girdlestone becomes guardian of a young heiress whose money reverts to her guardian in case of her death. The plotting of father and son to obtain this fortune and save the firm from bankruptcy makes up the story, the scene of which is principally in England.

Dumas, Alex. La dame de Monsoreau; with three portraits and six drawings by Eugène Courboni. Bost., Little, Brown & Co., 1893. 2 v., 15+329; 8+361 p. 8°, cl., net, $5. [Limited subscription edition.]

Eminent persons: biographies reprinted from the [London] Times. V. 4, 1887-1890. N. Y., Macmillan & Co., 1893. 6+6-324 p. 12°, cl., $1.25.

Fenn, G: Manville. Witness to the deed. N. Y., Cassell Pub. Co., [1893.] c. 5+398 p. D. cl., $1.

An old-fashioned story of love, crime, suspicion, detective-work, mystery and science that takes place in a London lodging-house. On the point of starting to be married the hero is attacked in his rooms. His bride awaits him in vain. His best man sticks to him through all the mystery that follows, but his true helper is the "witness to the deed."

Five o'clock stories, by the Sisters of the Holy Childhood, Sharon, Pa. N. Y., Benziger Bros., 1893. 16°, cl., $1.

Fletcher, Rob., M.D. The poet—is he born, not made? a paper read before the Anthropological Society of Washington, December 6, 1892. Wash., D. C., [printed for the author by] Judd & Detweiler, 1893. 117-135 p. O. pap., n. p.

Gadd, W. Lawrence. Soap manufacture: a practical treatise on the fabrication of hard and soft soaps, and analytical methods for the determination of their chemical composition; with a short account of the materials employed. N. Y., Macmillan & Co., 1893. 10+224 p. 12°, cl., $1.50.

Gardner, Celia E. Her last lover: a romance. N. Y., G. W. Dillingham, 1890 [1893] c. '90. 5-430 p. D. (Madison sq. ser., no. 60.) pap., 25 c.

Garnsey, G. O. The American glossary of architectural terms: being a concise and comprehensive compilation of all terms used in the practice of architecture and the building arts; ill. with selected and original drawings. Chic., Koelling & Klappenbach, 1893. c. '87. no paging, 4°, cl., $2.

Gervais, Paul. Un cas de conscience; ed. with notes, vocabulary and appendixes by R. P. Horslev. Bost., D. C. Heath & Co., 1893. 74+12 p. D. (Heath's modern language ser.) pap., 25 c.

Gillett, Omer T., M.D. Save your minutes: a narrative of the boyhood of Ernest Carlton. Cin., O., Cranston & Curts, 1892 [1893.] 428 p. 12°, cl., 90 c.

Glazebrook, R. T. Laws and properties of matter. N. Y., Appleton, 1893. 8+184 p. D. (Modern science ser., no. 5.) cl., $1.

An introduction to the study of the properties of matter. Aims to make clear to one who wishes to understand something of physics the meaning of the terms applied to matter and the principal properties it possesses.

Gordon, Sir Arthur. The Earl of Aberdeen. N. Y., Harper, 1893. 330 p. 8°, (The queen's prime ministers ser.) cl., $1.

Greeley, Horace. Greeley on Lincoln; with Mr. Greeley's letters to Charles A. Dana and a lady friend; to which are added reminiscences of Horace Greeley; ed. by Joel Benton. N. Y., The Baker & Taylor Co., [1893.] c. 3-270 p. por. D. cl., $1.25.

The opening treatise, "An estimate of Abraham Lincoln," shows Mr. Greeley's mind in contact with the questions and the personality which, perhaps, were most prominent in the course of his own career, and to a certain extent epitomize it. The letters to Mr. Dana and those to an intimate lady friend not only cover rare periods and incidents in Mr. Greeley's life, but they show the naive, unconscious motions of a mind never tempted to dissimulation, and (in the privacy for which they are intended) without motive to be other than sincere.

Hammer, Rev. Bonaventura, comp. Manual of the Holy Family, with the rules and prayers of the Association of the Holy Family compiled from approved sources. N. Y., Benziger Bros., 1893. 525 p. 32°, cl., 60 c.

Hancock, Anson Uriel. Silhouettes from life; on the prairie, in the backwoods. Chic., C. H. Kerr & Co., 1893. c. 3-158 p. D. cl., $1.

Seven of the sketches delineate life in Elm Creek, a typical Nebraska village, where "Old Abraham Jackson" settled with his large family in pioneer days. The remaining "Silhouettes" are descriptive of life in a backwoods settlement of Michigan, each story being complete in itself yet connected with the others by a thread of incident running through them all.

Harrison, F: Annals of an old manor-house, Sutton Place, Guildford. N. Y., Macmillan & Co., 1893. 10+231 p. 8°, cl., $14.

Harrison, F: The choice of books. N. Y., Macmillan & Co., [1893.] 3+163 p. T. cl., 75 c.

This well-known essay of Mr. Harrison is both rich in practical suggestions and shrewd analytical criticism. It is divided under the following headings: "How to read," "Poets of the old world," "Poets of the modern world" and "The misuse of books."

Haupt, Herman. Street-railway motors: with descriptions and cost of plants and operation of the various systems in use or proposed for motor-power on street-railways. Phil., H. Carey Baird & Co., 1893. 213 p. 12°, cl., $1.75.

Horace, [Quintus Horatius Flaccus.] Horatian echoes: translations of the odes of Horace, by J. Osborne Sargent; with an introd. by Oliver Wendell Holmes. Bost., Houghton, Mifflin & Co., 1893. c. 20+240 p. D. cl., $1.50.

Dr. Holmes' characteristic introduction bears testimony to Mr. Sargent's skill as a translator and to his culture and scholarship. He has made translations of eighty-seven of the odes of Horace, which are issued in a handsome volume in white and gold, the binding having been designed by Mrs. Whitman; valuable notes are added to the odes. A biographical sketch of Mr. Sargent prefixed to the odes gives the date of his death—Dec. 28, 1891. He was Dr. Holmes' life-long friend.

- McCarthy, Justin. The Dictator: a novel of politics and society. N. Y., Harper, 1893. c. 4+362 p. D. cl., $1.25.
The ruler of a South American republic, temporarily deposed by an unlooked-for revolution, comes to London to recruit his fortunes, preparatory to returning to "Gloria" the country from which he has been exiled. The "Dictator" has a pleasing and romantic personality, which soon makes him the centre of attraction in London society. He is loved by an English girl of high rank, and is also the object of the assassin's knife. English politics and English fashionable life are ably described.

The first volume opens with a list and description (in great part based on the writer's own discoveries) of Cyprian sanctuaries and tombs, amply illustrated with maps, plans and restorations. Starting from the fact that the holy tree—e.g., the Biblical tree of life and tree of knowledge—holds a very important position in the worship of ancient Oriental people, the author has devoted a large part of the work to tree and grove worship in Cyprus, Mesopotamia, Egypt, Syria and Judea, adding thereto the worship of post and pillar—Ashera and Masseba—so well known from the Bible. This and the following section on "Worship of divinities and fabulous beings" are largely illustrated from antiquities, hitherto unpublished, and also by the volume of plates, descriptions and explanations of which are given. The subjects of the appendixes are: 1, A comparison of the festivals of Oriental vegetation—divinities with those of southern and northern Europe. 2, Gold objects found in Cyprus. Full indexes.

In spite of the disapproval of friends and relatives Elinor Dennistoun marries the Honorable Philip Compton, a handsome, fascinating man, who even in his own "fast" set is called a "scamp." Before they are married Elinor saves him from the results of one of his crimes by a falsehood, of which at the time she does not realize the meaning. After the failure of their marriage, and they are separated, this falsehood again plays a part in the lives of both.

Prepared at the same time with "Hindu literature" (published in 1890), by the same author. No labor was spared to attain accuracy of statement, and no difficulties ignored in the years of research devoted to the collecting and condensing of the historic facts pertaining to this subject and giving them to the public together with the finest thoughts to be found upon the pages of these early manuscripts. The work is divided into four chronological divisions; the epoch of Persian poetry being again divided into seven distinct periods.

Reichhard, Mrs. J. F. My official husband; or, the mystery of Hilliard Hall. N. Y., J. S. Ogilvie, [1893.] c. 2-208 p. D. (Sunnyside ser., no. 71.) pap., 25 c.

After a stormy interview in the library of Hilliard Hall, Ryle Hilliard's father forbids him to marry a girl apparently his social inferior. This is followed by a quarrel with Letton, the supposed father of the girl, and Ryle leaves for Mexico. At this stage the intervention of an adventuress, whose motives are revenge, brings about complications in the lives of both father and son, which are explained in a romantic story.

Spurgeon, C. H. The gospel of the kingdom: a popular exposition of the gospel according to Matthew; with introd. note by Mrs. C. H. Spurgeon, and an introd. to the American ed. by Arthur T. Pierson. N. Y., The Baker & Taylor Co., [1893.] c. 8+502 p. D. cl., $1.50.

Within a few days before the termination of his last illness Mr. Spurgeon was busily occupied writing his commentary on Matthew's Gospel. A great part of his leisure time, during two previous winters in the south of France, had been devoted to this work. Throughout his long illness his enjoyable task had to be set aside, but as soon as he recovered sufficiently to journey to Mentone he returned to it. To all preachers, teachers and students this commentary will be invaluable; and as the last literary work of the lamented author, it will receive a special welcome.

BUSINESS NOTES.

CARLISLE, PA.—W. W. Fletcher has opened his new book-store here. It is located a few doors south of the public square, in a part of the town that was formerly without a book and stationery store.

CHICAGO, ILL.—As already noted the death of Horace O'Donoghue has involved a number of Chicago publishing houses in financial embarrassment. Among these are H. J. Smith & Co., subscription-book publishers, the Melbourne Publishing Co. and the Nile C. Smith Publishing Co. It is the intention of H. J. Smith to organize a new company, of which he will be manager, and in which, it is said, W. B. Conkey will figure. The plates of the Melbourne Publishing Co. have been bought by E. A. Weeks & Co., and the Nile C. Smith Publishing Co. will probably liquidate and go out of business. The firms of Charles H. Sergel & Co., F. J. Schulte & Co. and the Nile Publishing Company are also involved, but are making arrangements for financial assistance, which will enable them to continue. The relations of these firms to O'Donoghue are explained as follows: O'Donoghue printed and bound their books. He did first-class work, was a very amiable man to do business with, and when it came to settlements was found to be most accommodating. Cash was no object to him; his customers' notes were just as acceptable, and, in fact, just as useful, since the banks were willing to carry a large amount of paper with his indorsement. This fact was the cause of the complications, for a time came when O'Donoghue needed quite a sum of money, and how easy it was to ask these customers of his, whom he had repeatedly assisted, for "accommodation notes." He got them, as a matter of course, and in amounts twice and thrice the size of their indebtedness to him. The total amount of these accommodation notes is said to be from $75,000 to $100,000. But even with this heavy load upon him others in the same line of business say he could have pulled through, and might have done so, but for the worry incident to this large indebtedness secured on personal relationship and the temporary mental derangement caused thereby. These notes were coming due. He could not pay them. Neither could he face these friends of his and tell them of his failure. It is believed that O'Donoghue's estate will be found sufficient to take care of all the indebtedness in time. His printing and binding plant alone is said to be worth about $150,000.

MINNEAPOLIS, MINN.—The Antiquarian Book-Shop has removed from 207 to 127 Washington Ave., S. Mr. L. G. Delano, for some time a well-known policeman in this city, is in charge of the new location.

NEW YORK CITY.—E. W. Johnson, who is obliged to remove from his old stand on Broadway because the building must make way for some improvements, will make his headquarters after the 1st of May at 47 W. 28th Street, upstairs.

The Publishers' Weekly.

FOUNDED BY F. LEYPOLDT.

APRIL 22, 1893.

The editor does not hold himself responsible for the views expressed in contributed articles or communications. All matter, whether for the reading-matter columns or advertising pages, should reach this office not later than Wednesday noon, to insure insertion in the same week's issue.

Books for the "Weekly Record," as well as all information intended for that department, must reach this office by Tuesday morning of each week.

"Every man is a debtor to his profession, from the which, as men do of course seek to receive countenance and profit, so ought they of duty to endeavor themselves by way of amends to be a help thereunto."—LORD BACON.

EDITORS' COPIES TO BOOKSELLERS.

It is the custom of publishers to send to those booksellers who order a certain number of copies of their new publications extra copies for the local newspapers. On these copies notice is given that the books are obtainable of the bookseller through whom they are sent, and this notice is generally printed with the editorial notices. Experience would appear to suggest that with no more outlay the publisher might advertise to far more advantage by letting all the booksellers of the town reap the benefit of the editorial copies furnished by them to promote the sale of their new books in a special neighborhood. It is suggested that publishers either send the copies for the press direct with the printed or written notice, sold by all booksellers, or direct the bookseller to whom the copies are sent for delivery to use this form.

In many towns there may be two or three booksellers who sell as many of the books as those who get the advantage of copies for the press. These naturally feel aggrieved by what they consider favoritism on the part of the publishers, and we are satisfied that it is more to the advantage of publishers to have the good-will of all the booksellers in a town or city than the good-will of one and the indifference or hostility of four-fifths, which the present practice is calculated to incite. In many cases the booksellers who get the editors' copies are far behind their neighbors in enterprise and in the amount of their business, and often their only claim for the advantage is an old connection and custom.

Although the editors' copies are an inducement to give standing orders for new publications, the demand created by the publisher by a wise selection of local papers and a generous distribution of editorial copies would in the end be supplied by a higher general average of copies sold. In this case we should think it wiser to have the publisher deal directly with the editor.

If every bookseller in a town knew that every salable book would be brought to the notice of his townsmen he would soon desire to be supplied with such books ahead of his competitors, and an element of healthy rivalry would take the place of the jealousy and hard feeling which now lead many booksellers almost to neglect the books of certain publishers who have shown what they look upon as favoritism to their competitors.

It would be an easy matter to insist upon marked copies of the local papers reaching the publishers, and to make it a condition that books be reviewed within a certain time if the paper depends on free editorial copies.

A year's trial of this plan we feel confident would give the publisher a practical estimate of the help any special paper may become to him in any given locality where he knows there are energetic booksellers. Let the publishers treat all such alike by putting their books before the public, and leaving it to each individual merchant to put himself to the front by local advertising, promptness of meeting demand, and his individual standing and popularity. Do away with jealousy, start all on the same basis, and the most enterprising bookseller will in time send in the largest orders, while all concerned will work with better grace to better satisfaction.

THE ENCYCLOPÆDIA BRITANNICA PROTECTED AGAINST UNAUTHORIZED REPRINTS.

ON April 15 Judge William K. Townsend, in the United States Circuit Court, granted an injunction to A. & C. Black, the Edinburgh publishers of the "Encyclopædia Britannica," restraining the Henry G. Allen Company and the Funk & Wagnalls Company of New York from manufacturing or selling their reprint of the authorized American edition of the encyclopædia. The authorized edition, it is unnecessary to state, is published by Charles Scribner's Sons, and is known as the "Scribner edition." It contains various articles by Gen. Francis A. Walker and other American writers which were copyrighted in this country. The defendants denied the right of copyrighting single articles to protect an entire work from reprinting by unauthorized publishers; and on this ground the case has been in litigation for many years. The first judicial decision in the suit was pronounced in 1879 by Judge Butler, in the United States Circuit Court for the Eastern District of Pennsylvania, and was adverse to the Messrs. Black, the Judge holding that the copyrighting of a few American articles for the purpose of protecting the entire work was not a legitimate use of the copyright. The present action came before Judge Shipman in the United States Circuit Court for the Southern District of New York in 1890. The defendants interposed the demurrer that even if the copyright of the American articles was valid, the contention of the Blacks would prevent the reprint of a foreign work and deprive the American public of a common-law privilege. The demurrer was overruled by Judge Shipman, and the case came before Judge Townsend on its main issues, so that the present decision is more of a victory for the Scotch publishers than the one of 1890.

Judge Townsend's decision, on various points, is as follows:

"Defendant claims that the existence of a partnership is not established; that, as the partners re-ided and carried on their business in Scotland, and as it is proved that there was a written partnership agreement, this agreement, and the law of Scotland as to partnerships, should have been put in evidence by the complainant. It seems to me that the partnership has been sufficiently proved for the purpose of this case.

"Defendant also claims that the substance of the complaint is not proved; that the complaint alleges a specific agreement licensing the Blacks to use the copyrighted article made on or about April 1, 1888—that is, after the recording of the title of the article in the Office of the Librarian of Congress, and somewhere about the date of publication, and that there is no evidence of any such agreement.

"The agreement to write the articles may be fairly inferred to have been made with the understanding that the ownership, title and copyright should be as should be found to be most for the benefit of the Blacks. As the article was to be copyrighted, and as, for this purpose, it was necessary that the legal title should remain in Walker, or be assigned to the Scribners, and there is no proof of any such assignment to the Scribners, I regard it as an agreement that the title should remain in Walker, while the Blacks had the right to use the article in their encyclopædia. As to the date of April 1, 1888, there is no evidence of any specific agreement made on or about that date; but, as substantially such an agreement was in existence and in force at the time of publication and on April 1, I think the facts proved sufficiently support the allegation.

"Defendant claimed that several thousand copies of the encyclopædia containing the work in question were sold in Great Britain before March 27, 1888. An examination of the exhibits, however, shows that most of these were sent to the Scribners in preparation for publication in the United States on March 27. On or about March 12 two lots of the encyclopædia, in quires, were sent to two different publishers. The invoice which accompanied one of these lots was obtained and produced, and it contains a request that the books be not exposed for sale until bound copies should afterward be sent. Under the circumstances I think this request may properly be considered as a condition of the consignment or sale. There is no evidence that the request was not complied with. In the absence of evidence to the contrary, it may fairly be inferred that a similar condition was annexed to the other consignment.

"The two copies of the separate work of Walker, deposited in the office of the Librarian of Congress to complete the copyright, were obtained by taking to pieces a bound volume of the 'Encyclopædia Britannica,' and taking the sheets which contained the articles, and depositing them in the Patent Office. Defendant claims that this is not a deposit of the best edition of the work, or of any edition at all. The facts are as claimed by defendant, but I think this is a sufficient compliance with the statute.

"Defendant further alleges that the Blacks had asked the price of '$9 per volume' said "Encyclopædia Britannica," which is exorbitant," but I find that said price is not exorbitant. Defendant alleges that other articles have been made and included in the same way in former volumes of the 'Encyclopædia Britannica,' and suits therefor have never been prosecuted to a final hearing, and that, by the failure of the complainants to press said suits to a final hearing, the defendant has been encouraged and led to make the reprint.

"I do not think that the failure to press former suits to a final hearing stops the complainants from prosecuting this one.

"Finally, defendant alleges that the profits of the defendant have been in nowise enhanced by including said work 'United States Part III.,' etc., in the copies made by them; that the said work 'United States Part III.,' etc., is in itself of no substantial value; that defendant has not offered it for sale in the United States except as a part of the 'Encyclopædia Britannica;' that the suit is not brought bona fide for the purpose of recovering profits which would have arisen from the sale of this work by itself or restraining any damage accruing from the sale of said work per se, but is brought to enable plaintiffs to represent that defendant sold a mutilated copy of said foreign work.

"The questions raised by these allegations are interesting and important, but I think they are fairly answered by the rulings of Judge Shipman in his opinion, with all of which rulings I fully concur, and which must govern in this case."

Judge Townsend concludes:

"Complainants' copyright is infringed, and an injunction will be granted upon final hearing, without reference to the question of substantial damage."

THE BRADFORD BI-CENTENNIAL.

THE New York Historical Society met on April 8 to commemorate the two hundredth anniversary of the appointment of William Bradford to be Public Printer of the Colony of New York. The meeting was held in the Cotton Exchange, and previous to the exercises a tablet was placed on the south side of the building, to mark the site where the first newspaper printed in New York was issued in 1725. The Rev. Dr. Morgan Dix opened the exercises with a prayer, and Hon. John A. King, president of the society, introduced Charlton F. Lewis, who spoke at length on Bradford's career. The benediction was pronounced by Dr. Chambers, of the Collegiate Church. A commemorative tablet is to be later placed in Pearl Street, in the building on the site of Bradford's first printing office. On the evening of April 11 the Grolier Club held a meeting in honor of Bradford's memory at their club-house in East Thirty-second Street. Chas. R. Hildeburn delivered an address on "William Bradford, the First Printer in the Middle Colonies," and there was an exhibition of books printed by Bradford and other printers of the Middle Colonies in ante-Revolutionary days. The final Bradford celebration took place on the evening of April 12, when the Typothetæ of New York gave a dinner at Delmonico's. David Williams presided. Brief addresses were delivered by John Bigelow, St. Clair McKelway, Henry Houghton, Gen. Horace Porter, Parke Godwin, Octave Uzanne of Paris, and Fisher Unwin of London. It was regretted that Mr. A. D. F. Randolph, who was to have spoken on "The Publishing Trade," was unable to be present.

THE AFFAIRS OF THE UNITED STATES BOOK COMPANY.

CHARLES W. GOULD, receiver for the United States Book Company, who at a special term of the Supreme Court of the State of New York, held March 30, was empowered by order of Judge A. R. Lawrence to "conduct and carry on all the business of the United States Book Company and its subsidiary companies," has just issued the following circular:

"As Receiver of the United States Book Company and its subsidiary companies, I have been ordered by the Supreme Court of the State of New York to continue the business of publishing and selling books. I shall have the assistance of John M. Forbes, Esq., Vice-President and General Manager of United States Book Company and of the managers of the different departments and the subsidiary companies.

"The stock on hand is ample; the lines are complete and will be kept so. Prices and discounts will remain as heretofore.

"The reports which have been spread abroad regarding the selling of large quantities of books at ruinous prices are erroneous. While quantities have been sold they have been in the nature of job lots only. New catalogues are in preparation and will shortly be sent to the trade. New books will be announced from time to time.

"Lovell, Coryell & Co. will have the line of gilt top presentation sets and various other new books. Hovendon Co. will have a number of popular sets and various new two-volume sets like those which proved so salable last year; also a new and very attractive line of gilt top 12mos. The grade of work will be sustained and improved throughout the lines.

"On May 1 the offices and salesrooms of all the subsidiary companies will be removed to Nos. 5 and 7 East 16th Street, the present office of the United States Book Company, where samples will be kept, while the stock of goods will be removed to Williamsburg, L. I., corner North 11th and Berry Streets. All shipping will be done from Williamsburg, and goods returned must be sent there, as also all packages for enclosure.

"On May 1 the retail, jobbing and publishing departments of the United States Book Company will be discontinued. Its publications will be issued in future by Lovell, Coryell & Co. and Hovendon Co., as shown in their respective catalogues. All orders for these books should be addressed to the company publishing them. The organization and business of the subsidiary companies will be preserved, and after May 1 all orders should be addressed to the individual companies at 5 and 7 East 16th Street.

"CHARLES W. GOULD."

PAYMENTS TO POPULAR NOVELISTS.

THE editor of a London literary journal has been reckoning the payments made to popular novelists for the serial use of their stories. Thirteen names are given in the following order: Mark Twain, Mrs. Hodgson Burnett, Rider Haggard, Mr. Blackmore, Mr. Black, Mr. Stevenson, Miss Braddon, Mr. Hall Caine, Mr. Walter Besant, Mr. Conan Doyle, Mr. F. Marion Crawford, Mr. Thomas Hardy, Mr. James Payn. It will be noted that two Americans head the list.

It is stated that for the serial rights of "Treasure Island" Mr. R. L. Stevenson received about £120. Ten times that amount would not purchase a tale of equal length from his pen to-day. For the serial rights of "She" H. Rider Haggard got £300, and a similar amount was paid to Hall Caine for "The Deemster." For short stories Rudyard Kipling is still first, though J. M. Barrie is running him close, and it is predicted will take the lead. Some people evidently prophesy what they don't know, in spite of the humorist's earnest admonition. Robert Buchanan and Mr. Jerome K. Jerome are also mentioned as receiving large sums for their work.

But the totals for both book and serial rights received by novelists to-day are far below the princely sums that were paid to Scott, George Eliot, Dickens, Thackeray, Reade and Wilkie Collins. For "Romola" George Eliot received £7000, and might have had £3000 more but for her conscientious regard for art. As there are many versions of that famous transaction, we may give the facts, as stated in the London Publishers' Circular: "The novelist agreed to write a story for the Cornhill, for which she was to be paid £10,000. It was, however, to run through sixteen numbers instead of the usual twelve. Of this arrangement she did not approve, and all the arguments of her friends could not overcome her objections. Finally she threw £3000 off the price to carry her point, a rare instance of self-sacrifice for the sake of art." Lord Beaconsfield, it should be mentioned, received princely terms for "Endymion." "He wanted money," writes Mr. Froude in his biography of Beaconsfield in the Queen's Prime Ministers Series, "and it brought him ten thousand pounds."

"THE REFORMED CHURCH" BUILDING.

WHAT the Methodist Book Concern of New York is to the Methodist Episcopal denomination it is intended that the Reformed Church Building, at No. 25 East Twenty-second Street, New York, which was opened with a reception on April 4, shall be to the Reformed Church of America. The building, which is 33 by 100 feet, was formerly the residence of Percy R. Pyne, and was purchased for about $70,000. The Board of Publication, which will have quarters in the building, will furnish books, periodicals, etc., to churches, Sunday-schools and individuals at reasonable rates, and the building will be the depository for all the Reformed Church publications issued by the United Societies of Christian Endeavor. The building is four stories high and contains ten rooms, which include the quarters of the Board of Foreign Missions, the Board of Direction, the Board of Education, the Woman's Board of Foreign Missions and the governing bodies of the church in America. There is also a large assembly-room, in which the exercises were held on Tuesday. Fully 1500 persons crowded into the building. They came from all over the country, and included many ministers well known in the church. The Rev. Dr. J. C. Elmendorf, of Harlem, presided. After a dedicatory prayer by the Rev. Dr. David Cole, of Yonkers, the Rev. Dr. A. G. Vermilyea made an eloquent address on the growth of the Reformed Church. A welcoming address was delivered by the Rev. Ferdinand S. Schenck, of Hudson, president of the General Synod. He was followed by the Rev. Paul D. Van Cleef, who gave a historical sketch of the church building project.

NEW LIGHT ON 15TH CENTURY PRINTING.

IN the Bibliographie de la France of January 21, 1893, Miss M. Pellechet publishes an article entitled "Printing in Languedoc in the 15th Century," illustrated with many fac-similes, which has a special interest for those interested in the history of printing, as it gives much information, not heretofore known, upon the work of German master-printers in Provence during the period under discussion. By comparison of types that can be verified by the reader by means of accompanying fac-similes Miss Pellechet draws the conclusion that the first dated printing done in Toulouse was the work of Martin Huss, of Botwar, whose work has hitherto only been traced to his later establishment in Lyons. This work bears the date 1476, and is entitled "De fide instrumentorum," by Andreas Barbatia (a work missing in Hain's catalogue, but described by Brunet). This work is not signed, but is known to be the work of the same printer who signed the undated work "De modo ludi scacchorum," by Jacques de Cessoles, with the initials M. H. D. B. (Martin Huss, de Botwar), following the custom of his time in mentioning his place of origin, a little village beyond the Rhine. Following this clue, several hitherto unidentified incunabula may be traced to Martin Huss and also the final disposition of his type and printing material after his return to Lyons. His Toulouse type is traced to the possession of Johann Paix, a countryman of Huss, as early as 1479, who first used it in printing "De clericis concubinariis," a work also missing in Hain, which is signed and dated and helps to identify unsigned work of this master.

Miss Pellechet's careful work also throws new light upon the epoch-making book of Claudin relating to the travels of Johann Neumeister, a former associate of Gutenberg. To him she also traces several works, vouching for her theories by fac-similes. M. Spirgatis, criticising the work of Miss Pellechet in the Börsenblatt, dwells upon the great discoveries yet to be made in this field, until lately considered exhausted by Hain and Claudin. He thinks that literature as well as antiquarian catalogues still offer rich fields of study to those sifting them who come as well equipped to the work as the French writer under discussion.

OBITUARY.

THEODORE A. ANDREWS.

MR. THEODORE A. ANDREWS, of the former firm of Cobb, Andrews & Co., of Cleveland, O., died on the 18th inst., at his home, Rogers Park, near Chicago, Ill. Mr. Andrews was at the time of his death about 53 years old. He was born in Oberlin, and was graduated from the college in that city. After leaving college he went to Cleveland and entered the employ of J. B. Cobb & Co., who succeeded to the business established by M. C. Younglove in 1837. In 1860, when the firm which then had grown from a retail concern to one of the largest retail and wholesale houses in the West removed to the large store at 241 Superior Street, Mr. Andrews was admitted as a partner, and the firm became Cobb, Andrews & Co., the other members of the firm being J. B. Cobb and his two brothers, C. C. and B. J. The firm's operations grew steadily, and shortly after Mr. Andrews became a partner his cousin Mr. Daniel Pritchard, now with D. Appleton & Co., opened a branch house of the firm in Chicago, at 81 and 83 Lake Street, under the firm name of Cobb, Pritchard & Co. Late in the sixties when Mr. Pritchard withdrew from the firm Mr. Andrews removed to Chicago to take his place, and was in charge of the store at the time of the great fire. With characteristic promptness Mr. Andrews reconstructed the Chicago branch, having his headquarters in an old dwelling-house. A few years later it was considered advisable to concentrate their strength in the parent house, and so the Chicago branch was discontinued.

In the meantime the business of the house had grown to such proportions that a large and elegant block of buildings was erected on the south side of Euclid Avenue just east of the Park. At that time it is no exaggeration to say that taken altogether—in size, commodiousness, convenience and tastefulness of arrangement and facilities for doing a heavy business with comfort and despatch, the store of Cobb, Andrews & Co. ranked first among those of the West. But all this was accomplished chiefly at the expense of the health of the energetic and indefatigable junior member—Mr. Andrews. He was a man of large capacity for work and naturally attempted to do more than his strength would stand. In the eighties he broke down and travelled for some months to regain his health. After six months he returned to his desk apparently in good condition, but in a short time he again broke down. The doctors then advised a rest of several years. In view of this decision his associates, who had learned to rely upon Mr. Andrews for the conduct of the business and who had acquired a handsome competency, decided to retire, and accepted an offer from their competitors the Burrows Brothers Company, to whom they sold the business in May, 1888. In 1890 Mr. Andrews who had then quite recovered his health took charge of the Chicago subscription department of D. Appleton & Co.'s art-works, and in six months achieved an almost phenomenal success. But he found that he could not stand a sustained strain upon his energies, and so reluctantly severed his connection with the book trade for good. Since that time he has been engaged in agency work in Chicago. He leaves a wife and six children, the oldest of whom, his son George, is connected with the National Library Association of Chicago. His father is also still living in Oberlin.

OBITUARY NOTES.

LUCY LARCOM, the poet, died in Boston on the 17th inst., after an illness of many weeks. Miss Larcom was born in Beverly, Mass., in 1826. In 1836, after the death of her father, a retired ship captain, she moved to Lowell, and after two or three years' schooling went to work in a cotton-mill. She taught school in after years in Illinois and Massachusetts. She wrote many patriotic verses during the civil war, and when Our Young Folks magazine was established in 1865 she became its assistant editor, and the next year its chief editor. She retained this place until 1874. In 1859 she had published "Ships in the Mist, and other stories," and in 1868 "Poems." "An Idyll of Work," published after her retirement from Our Young Folks, dealt largely with the life she had known in the cotton-mills. "Childhood Songs" and "Wild Roses of Cape Ann" were among her other works. Within the last two years "An Unseen Friend," "As It Is in Heaven" and "At the Beautiful Gate," published by Houghton, Mifflin & Co., have met with much recognition from very exacting critics. She was a frequent contributor to the Lowell Offering and Operative's Magazine.

JOHN ADDINGTON SYMONDS died in Rome on the 19th inst., aged 53 years. He was the author of an extensive work on "Renaissance in Italy," "Introduction to the Study of Dante," "Studies of the Greek Poets," "Italian Byways," and contributions to the English Men of Letters Series on Shelley and Sir Philip Sidney. He also wrote an article on "Italian History" for the "Encyclopædia Britannica."

D. S. COLESWORTHY.

WE are enabled through the courtesy of a friend to print the above portrait of D. S. Colesworthy, Boston's oldest bookseller, a sketch of whose career was given in THE PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY, April 8.

JOURNALISTIC NOTES.

Steam and Sail is the title of a new weekly marine publication the first issue of which has just made its appearance in New York City.

WITH the May number The Century is to have a new cover, designed by Mr. Stanford White, who was the designer of the cover which replaced the old purple cover of Scribner's Monthly in 1880.

A MONTHLY magazine of new and original short tales is to appear under the name of Storiettes, and arrangements have been made with the most popular English and American writers for material for its columns. Storiettes will also give space occasionally to humorous sketches, poems and drawings, for which prizes will be offered. The first number will contain fifteen tales written by Julian Hawthorne, John Habberton, William Perry Brown, S. Baring-Gould, W. E. Norris, "The Duchess," etc.

NOTES ON AUTHORS.

EDWARD EGGLESTON has gone West and, with his wife, will live at Madison, Ind. Dr. Eggleston goes there for the purpose of rewriting "The Hoosier School-Master," and will remain near the scene until the work is in satisfactory shape.

MISS YONGE, most indefatigable of novelists, has begun to write in collaboration with others. Her forthcoming book, "Strolling Players," has on its title-page not only her name but also that of Christabel Coleridge.

PERSONAL NOTES.

JAMES S. MARTIN, for years connected with the Chicago branch of the Methodist Book Concern, has severed his connection with the concern and has entered into partnership with his brother-in-law as a member in an architectural firm.

EMILE TERQUEM, delegate of the Cercle de la Librairie de Paris and representative of the French book trade at the Chicago Exposition, reached this country last week. After a brief stay in New York he proceeded to Chicago, where he may be addressed in care of Charles MacDonald & Co., 55 Washington Street.

NOTES ON CATALOGUES.

U. HOEPLI, Milan, has in press "Bibliografia Etiopica" (Ethiopian bibliography), a descriptive catalogue of the writings relating to Ethiopia from the invention of printing to the end of 1891, edited by Giuseppe Fumagelli, librarian of the National Library at Milan, who has compiled his work under the auspices of the Italian Geographical Society and the Society of Exploration for Commercial Africa. (8°, x-290 pp. 3428 titles.)

THE CASSELL PUBLISHING CO., 104 Fourth Ave., New York, has just ready a "Portrait Catalogue" of their publications which has been in course of preparation for the past six months. Besides containing a selected list of the Cassell Publishing Company's most important publications it contains over forty full-page portraits of the firm's authors made expressly for this purpose. Among these portraits are to be found President Grover Cleveland, Dr. Edward Everett Hale, A. T. Quiller-Couch ("Q"), Pierre Loti, W. H. Mallock, Barry Pain, Jerome K. Jerome, Chauncey M. Depew, Camille Flammarion, Alphonse Daudet, Maurus Jokai, Georges Ohnet, Doña Pardo Bazán, P. A. de Alarcon, Eli Perkins, Thomas Stevens, Méné Muriel Norman (the "Girl in the Karpathians"), Paul Blotet (Max O'Rell), Ward McAllister, Thomas W. Knox and Marie Bashkirtseff. Collectors will find these portraits admirably adapted for "extra illustrating" books. The catalogue will be sent, postpaid, to any address on receipt of two 2 cent stamps.

CATALOGUES OF NEW AND SECOND-HAND BOOKS.—J. W. Bouton, 8 W. 28th St., N. Y., New importations. (No. 21, 16 p. 16°).—E. Dufosse, 27 Rue Guénégaud, Paris, Americana. (9th ser., No. 7-12, 988 titles.)—David G. Francis, Scarce books. (No. 105, 800 titles.)—Francis P. Harper, 17 E. 16th Street, N. Y., Autographs and manuscripts. Very interesting collection. (No. 58, 263 lots).—U. P. James, 131 W. 7th St., Cincinnati, Miscellaneous. (No. 40, 16 p. 16°).—Charles Sanforth Jefferies, Sanforth, Clevedon,

Eng., Rare miscellaneous. (182 titles.)—B. & J. F. Meehan, 32 Gay St., Bath, Eng., Bath and Somerset bibliography. (No 26, 1373 titles.)—David Nutt, 270 Strand, London, Miscellaneous. (No. 34, 621 titles.)—S. H. Zahm, Lancaster, Pa., Historical and miscellaneous. (No. 61, 234 titles.)

LITERARY AND TRADE NOTES.

THE price of "The Diary of Samuel Pepys" was given wrongly in the advertisement of Macmillan & Co. in our last week's issue. It should have been $1.50, not $1.

WE are pleased to learn that the friends of the late George E. Clapp have taken measures to recover his remains from Potter's Field and to bury them by the side of his brother's body in Nantucket, Mass.

THE EXCELSIOR PUB. HOUSE, N. Y. City, have in press "The Tuxedo Reciter," a repository of original and selected recitations and readings, contemporaneous and otherwise, compiled and arranged by Frank McHale.

WILLIAM BEVERLEY HARISON will publish at once in the Pocket Pedagogical Library "Education in Its Physical Relations," by Wm. Jolly. He also calls the attention of the trade to the fact that he is agent for the Chandler Adjustable School Furniture, also for Bangs' "Meridian Pattern," an ingenious device for use in map-drawing.

A. S. BARNES & Co. will publish May 15 a book entitled "Looking Within; the Misleading Tendencies of 'Looking Backward' Made Manifest." As its title suggests, it is a reply to the suggestive plans in "Looking Backward" for a revolution in present social and governmental methods and ideas. The book is written in the form of a novel.

THE LAW REPORTER CO., Washington, D. C. have ready for delivery "The Founding of Washington City," a history of the original acquirement of the site of the capital, the division of squares and the original distribution of lots from 1793-1798. The work has been compiled from the city archives by Erastus Thatcher, who has produced a most valuable aid for lawyers engaged in looking up titles and making transfers.

W. H. LOWDERMILK & Co., Washington, D. C., have just ready a new book entitled a "Historical Register of Officers of the Continental Army During the War of the Revolution," by F. B. Heitman. The author has spent a good many years of his life in the War Department, and is so thoroughly familiar with the records that he has been peculiarly fitted for the important work he has done. His work does not contain the name of every officer, but it does contain all that could be found on the rolls on file and in possession of the Government. Persons who are interested in the Sons and Daughters of the Revolution will be glad to have the work.

FLEMING H. REVELL COMPANY will issue at once the following volumes of sermons: "Princeton Sermons," by Pres. Patton, the late Prof. Hodge, and Professors Green, Warfield and others of the Princeton Theological Seminary; "New Concepts of Old Dogmas," by Rev. J. E. Odlin; "The Ivory Palaces of the King," by Rev. J. Wilbur Chapman, who has lately achieved much prominence; and "The Call of the Cross," by Rev. Geo. D. Herron. The new books for young men are: "Men and Morals," a collection of addresses to students at Yale University and elsewhere, by Rev. James Stalker; "Confidential Talks to Young Men," by L. B. Sperry, M.D.; "Thoroughness," by Rev. Thain Davidson; and "Making a Beginning," by William J. Lacey, the popular English novelist.

HOUGHTON, MIFFLIN & Co. will publish at an early date new Salem Editions of "Twice-Told Tales;" and "Mosses from an Old Manse," uniform with "The Scarlet Letter" and "The House of the Seven Gables," already issued; and Portland Editions of Longfellow's "Hyperion" and "Outre-Mer." These editions give a vignette of the birthplace of the authors on their title-pages. They announce "Utterly Mistaken," a modern story by Annie Thomas; "Witness the Deed," by George Manville Fenn; and "Prince Herman, Regent," by Jules Lemaitre, translated by Belle M. Sherman, story written to prove that an absolute monarchy is not necessarily improved by becoming a republic. They announce the publication of a "Latin Lessons," designed to prepare for the intelligent reading of classic Latin, by Henry Preble, formerly assistant professor of Latin and Greek at Harvard University, and L. C. Hull, master in the Lawrenceville School, Lawrenceville, N. J.

PICK-UPS.

AT THE BOOK-STORE.—Customer: But this book bears a date prior to the invention of printing. Dealer in Rare Volumes: So much the more valuable, sir; so much the more valuable. It is proof of its antiquity. It was only after the invention of printing, you know, that the counterfeiting of old volumes was possible.—Boston Transcript.

THE LITERARY BICYCLIST.

I'm a literary bicyclist—I skim the primrose path
Of dalliance with the muse of learned ease;
I scribble in the magazines, and take a daily bath
In the deep Pierian spring of journealese.

I thread poetic byways, and I scamper on the grass,
I rattle down the philosophic hill;
I glance at art and science o'er the hedgerows as I pass,
And I get a glimpse of Buckle, Spencer, Mill.

I've read a little Hegel, and of Kant a goodly slice,
With a very clever summary of Comte;
And I look to education to eradicate each vice
That humanity regards with mauvaise honte.

As for Plato, Aristotle, and the rest of classic name,
I've read them all, of course, in Bohn's translation;
I cannot say I like them, though one cannot flout their fame,
If one aims at being a man of education.

I'm the strenuous admirer of the novel-writer's art,
And I take the greatest interest in his ways;
I read him in three volumes, or the scrappy monthly part,
And I chuckle o'er the critics that he slays.

I'm very fond of interviews; a chance I never miss
Of gloating o'er the furniture and delf
Of some popular romancer, and my fondest hope is this:
To be "illustrated interviewed" myself!
—St. James's Gazette.

NOTES AND QUERIES.

WHO published Dubose's "Life of W. L. Yancey?" It is said to have been published last year.

TERMS OF ADVERTISING.

Under the heading "Books Wanted," subscribers only are entitled to a free insertion of five lines for books out of print, exclusive of address (in any issue except special numbers), to an extent not exceeding 100 lines a year. If more than five lines are sent, the excess is at 10 cents per line, and amount should be enclosed. Bids for current books and such as may be easily had from the publishers, and repeated matter, as well as all advertisements from non-subscribers, must be paid for at the rate of 10 cents per line.

Under the heading "Books for Sale," the charge to subscribers and non-subscribers is 10 cents per line for each insertion. No deduction for repeated matter.

Under the heading "Books for Exchange," the charge is 10 cents per line. No deduction for standing matter.

Under the heading "Situations Wanted," subscribers are entitled to one free insertion of five lines. For repeated matter and advertisements of non-subscribers the charge is 10 cents per line.

All other small advertisements will be charged at the uniform rate of 10 cents per line. Eight words may be reckoned to the line.

Parties with whom we have no accounts must pay in advance, otherwise no notice will be taken of their communications.

Parties desiring to receive answers to their advertisements through this office must either call for them or enclose postage stamps with their orders for the insertion of such advertisements. In all cases we must have the full address of advertisers as a guarantee of good faith.

Houses that are willing to deal only on a cash-on-delivery basis will find it to their advantage to put after their firm-name the word [Cash].

The Life and Work of John Ruskin.

By W. G. COLLINGWOOD, M.A. With portraits and other illustrations. 2 vols., 8vo, $5.00.

Those who in any adequate degree appreciate Mr. Ruskin will heartily welcome the two volumes in which Mr. Collingwood, for many years his secretary, describes his life and work. The four books into which the volumes are divided relate to (1) The Boy Poet [1814-1842]; (2) The Art Critic [1842-1860]; (3) Hermit and Heretic [1860-1870]; (4) Professor and Prophet [1870-1892]. Mr. Collingwood has had access to much important material, but has not included a large number of Mr. Ruskin's letters; to these he has added letters of biographical interest by Carlyle and Browning. The great interest of Mr. Collingwood's work is supplemented by several portraits of Mr. Ruskin and some other illustrations.

Large-paper edition. Limited to 250 copies. Printed on handmade paper, with many portraits and other illustrations. In two volumes, octavo, $15.00, net.

Donald Marcy.

By ELIZABETH STUART PHELPS. 16mo, $1.25.

This is partly a college story, full of life, energy, entertainment and other wholesome and engaging qualities. It illustrates the aspirations and thoughtfulness of healthy youth as it matures to manhood, and it need not be added that it is written with power, with humor, and with a nobility of aim which lends to it an unusual interest.

A Cathedral Courtship, and Penelope's English Experiences.

By KATE DOUGLAS WIGGIN, author of "The Birds' Christmas Carol," "The Story of Patsy," "Timothy's Quest," etc. With illustrations. 16mo, $1.25.

These two bright stories are full of brilliant conversations, humorous incidents and entertaining reflections; and with the pictures which illustrate some of the more noteworthy situations, the stories make a book which can hardly fail to charm a host of readers.

Sally Dows, and Other Stories.

By BRET HARTE. 16mo, $1.25.

This book contains, besides the title story, "The Conspiracy of Mrs. Bunker," "The Transformation of Buckeye Camp" and "Their Uncle from California." The first story is of Georgia, in the period following the war; the others relate to California, and are in the style in which Mr. Harte is unrivalled, both in the stories themselves and in the art with which they are told.

From Chattanooga to Petersburg, under Generals Grant and Butler.

A Contribution to the History of the War, and a Personal Vindication. By WILLIAM FARRAR SMITH, Brevet Major-General, U. S. A., and late Major-General of Volunteers. With four maps and plans. 1 vol., crown 8vo, $1.25.

LONGMANS, GREEN, & CO., 15 E. 16th St., New York.

Wagner and His Works.

The Story of His Life, with Critical Comments. By HENRY T. FINCK. With portraits. 2 vols., crown 8vo, $4.00.

Mr. Finck's familiarity with the vast volume of Wagner literature, his ardent and uncompromising admiration for Wagner's genius, and his aggressive, racy style, give to his book both a lasting value and a piquant flavor which every music-lover will appreciate. The book is both a full review of Wagner's life and a summary and critical analysis of the musical and poetic contents of his writings, rich in anecdote and apposite quotation.

Art Out of Doors.

Hints on Good Taste in Gardening. By Mrs. SCHUYLER VAN RENSSELAER. 12mo, $1.50.

Landscape gardening as an art, in its practical application to the beautifying of country places, is the subject of this book. Mrs. Van Rensselaer discusses the treatment of the grounds, roads and paths, piazzas, pattern beds, trees and shrubs, etc., with a fine artistic taste and a very genuine love of nature.

Homes in City and Country.

By RUSSELL STURGIS, JOHN W. ROOT, BRUCE PRICE, DONALD G. MITCHELL, SAMUEL PARSONS, JR., and W. A. LINN. With 100 illustrations. 8vo, $2.00.

This book relates to home-winning and to the characteristic features of city, suburban and country houses, with suggestions by acknowledged authorities as to the most desirable features of each class. Co-operative house-building is fully explained. The illustrations represent American architecture from Colonial times to the present.

Social Strugglers.

By Prof. H. H. BOYSEN. 12mo, $1.25.

Prof. Boyesen's story is an account of the struggles of a Western family transplanted to New York to attain social distinction. The book is both entertaining as a picture of life, involving a delightful love-story, and valuable as a study of contemporary social tendencies.

The Profession of Bookselling,

A Handbook of Practical Hints for the Apprentice and Bookseller.

By A. GROWOLL,

Managing Editor of "The Publishers' Weekly."

"The author has collected a stupendous mass of information on his subject, and manages to impart his knowledge with admirable brevity and clearness. It treats of everything that he ought to know, and of most things in which he can be even remotely interested. . . . If accuracy and fulness of information avail, the young man who masters Mr. Growoll's book can scarcely help making his mark in the world."—London Publishers' Circular.

"A volume, attractively printed, that deserves a place among reference-books by reason of its bibliography. Here are lists of works fitted to impart to the bookseller (and to the general reader) a general knowledge of the field of English and American literature, of Continental literature, of the classical and oriental, etc.; lists of trade catalogues, of library catalogues, of trade journals and literary journals; and a broad reference library. . . . For its main purpose this is an excellent manual."—The Nation.

"Booksellers in this country [England] will find this work both useful and entertaining."—London Bookman.

"We wish to give you our advance order for that most valuable series of articles—'The Profession of Bookselling'—and wish to thank you for publishing in book form one of the most useful tools the trade has had placed in its hands for a long time."—THE FIELD & GIBB BOOK AND STATIONERY CO., Lawrence, Kansas.

LATEST ISSUES:

The Victorian Age of English Literature.

By Mrs. OLIPHANT, author of "The Makers of Florence," "The Makers of Venice," "Laurence Oliphant's Life," etc., etc. In 2 vols., 12mo, cloth, gilt top, $3 00.

This work contains an accurate and comprehensive survey of English literature during the past fifty years—the Victorian Age—which is undoubtedly one of the most active, most prolific and richest literary periods in the history of the globe.

The lives and writings of five hundred literary celebrities are passed under the author's discerning review in these volumes, which likewise contain the history of the inception and development of innumerable magazines, newspapers, etc., more or less known to fame. The book is a most painstaking and able conspectus of Victorian literature, such as no student and no possessor of a library can afford to be without.

The Drama.

Addresses by HENRY IRVING. With frontispiece by Whistler. 16mo, cloth, gilt top, $1.25.

This dainty little volume comprises four interesting addresses by Mr. Irving, dealing with the annals of acting and with the art as well as with the traditions of the stage. It is full at once of the enthusiasm and the professional culture which mark everything said or done by the chief figure on the modern stage, who properly holds his profession in high esteem. The addresses, delivered at Oxford University, on the Four Great Actors of the English Stage, will, we are sure, be read and re-read by all lovers of the higher drama and by every one in sympathy with the actor's art. The work is enriched by an excellent character portrait of Mr. Henry Irving.

The Highland Nurse.

A Tale. By the DUKE OF ARGYLL. 18mo, paper, 25 cents. Shandon Series.

Lovers of Scotch scenery and legends will be particularly pleased with the Duke of Argyll's carefully written story, "The Highland Nurse." There is much in this little volume that will also appeal to novel-readers in general, notably the weird mystery that surrounds the old Highland Nurse, who attains the marvellous age of 120 years. This book is replete with beautiful word-pictures which were evidently penned by a keen lover of these lovely Highland scenes.

A Deplorable Affair.

By W. E. NORRIS, author of "Adrian Vidal," "A Bachelor's Blunder," etc., etc. 18mo, paper, 25 cents. Shandon Series.

"For the combination of high literary qualities which Mr. Norris possesses, we must go back to the most eminent of his predecessors."—Quarterly Review.

"Mr. Norris has given us a very pleasant story, told in his own very pleasant way. His dialogue is always pleasant and sometimes witty."—London Daily Chronicle.

PREVIOUSLY PUBLISHED:

A Republic Without a President.

By HERBERT D. WARD, author of "The Master of the Magicians," "The New Senior at Andover." 12mo, cloth, $1.00.

"A Republic Without a President" is the title story of a volume which illustrates with particular briskness the crisp and vigorous style of Mr. Herbert D. Ward. The final story in the volume, entitled "Colonel Oddmenton," is a sequel to "A Republic Without a President," and as such makes a most pleasing finale to an enjoyable book. The work will undoubtedly be received with pleasure not only for the peculiarity of its title, but for the merit of the subject-matter as well.

Christine.

By ADELINE SERGEANT, author of "Beyond Recall," "A Life Sentence," etc. 12mo, cloth ornamental, $1.00; paper, 50 cents. Holyrood Series.

"'Christine' has a finished quality that in the artistic sense is exceedingly agreeable. The narrative has plenty of effective contrasts, and the descriptive passages are admirable in suggestiveness."—Boston Beacon.
